Product information

The Trakker NXC Camo rod cover has been developed based on years of experience in rod accessories. Simple, protective and durable - we all know that rods and reels are some of the most expensive and delicate pieces of equipment. This single, heavily padded carp rod sleeve is perfectly tailored to provide a close fit for a fully assembled rod. The extended tip sections along with the internal padding accommodate 50mm K-Series guides and ensure your rod is securely protected during transportation. It features an oversized reel pocket that is not only heavily padded but also generously cut to protect even the largest big pit reels. For added convenience, a large zippered storage pocket is strategically placed, ideal for lead or a spod/spomb to keep essential accessories close to hand when loading or unloading your rods. Unyielding in durability, the double-sided, heavy-duty main zipper ensures quick and easy access to your rod and reel. We've integrated loops for effortless attachment of a shoulder strap. Stay organized and slim with the 32mm side closures. You can securely connect multiple sleeves together, allowing you to transport multiple rods. A D-clip is attached to the top of the sleeve for space-saving storage solutions. Hang it securely and keep your gear organized and easily accessible.
