Product information

The Quappie is an innovative rubber bait from the think tank of Sebastian Hänel. This lure has been specially developed to arouse the interest of target fish with its unique movements and structure and to maximize their willingness to bite.

The Quappie is ideal for jigging, but can also be used successfully with other techniques such as trolling or casting. Especially in heavily fished areas, the burbot makes all the difference. With the 10 cm Quappie, you have a versatile and effective lure at hand that impresses with its natural movements and targeted design. Whether for perch or zander - the Quappie brings fish to the hook.
