Product information

The ZT Lite Hydra Flex Hoody is a technically sophisticated outer layer that offers reliable protection and comfort in changeable weather conditions. Made from an elastic hybrid material with 4-way stretch, it combines freedom of movement, windproofness, abrasion resistance and water-repellent properties. The DWR coating keeps out light precipitation, while the soft inner lining ensures a comfortable fit.

Well thought-out details such as the mesh-ventilated back pocket and mesh inserts under the arms support air circulation during physical activity. The extended back hem protects against moisture and cold when seated. A waterproof sleeve pocket and the spacious kangaroo pocket with zipper offer space for accessories or bait. A special detail is the adjustable hood with extended peak and integrated mosquito net.

The hoody can be stowed compactly in the integrated pocket - a functional garment for almost all year round.
