Product information

The Sportex Nova series offers a well-designed range of rods for modern and versatile perch fishing. From sensitive UL models to precise jig rods and all-round and drop shot versions, it covers a wide range of techniques.

At the heart of each rod is a slim blank made from high-quality Toray high-performance carbon, which provides direct feedback, fast action, and sufficient backbone for reliable drilling. The action-specific tuning ensures that bait contact, hooking, and striking can be executed with precision.

Depending on the model, VSS or baitcast reel seats are used, while lightweight KL/KT SIC guides enable clean line guidance, good casting distances, and smooth operation even with fine braided lines. The Nova series combines sensitive tips, fast recovery, and sufficient backbone power for controlled perch fishing with high performance and an attractive price-performance ratio.

The Sportex Nova RS-3 Allround Light is a versatile spinning rod for fine to light perch fishing. With a casting weight of 2–15g, it is ideal for soft plastic lures, small hardbaits, finesse rigs, and light jigs. The fast Toray carbon blank offers a sensitive tip for precise bait control and sufficient backbone for confident hooksets and controlled fights. Thanks to its low weight and balanced action, the rod can be used for long sessions without fatigue and covers a wide range of applications.
