The "Birdy" variety is:

- a mix of 24mm and 20mm boilies
- Birdfood Boilie
- with butyric acid
- a natural composition
- of medium-hard consistency
- Rolled with fresh eggs

There are many carp anglers who like to use a little more feed. True to the old motto: "Feed is power"! :)

If possible and permitted, it makes perfect sense to keep fishing spots permanently fed. Or you can go on an extended session where you simply want to have more boilies available. For example, at large dredged, dammed, or natural lakes, or on rivers.

Feed boilies are often associated with inferior quality. The opposite is true here!

Product information

The feed must taste good to the fish and be perfectly digestible. Eat – excrete, eat – excrete, etc. The mixes have therefore been optimized for maximum digestibility. The fish should be able to eat these boilies easily and always associate them with a natural food source. The boilies are therefore compact, but not hard and easily soluble. Since our baits are rolled exclusively with fresh eggs, they have a perfect amino profile from the ground up!

The bag contains a mixture of 24 mm and 20 mm boilies. This has many advantages, as the fish can never adjust to one size. There is no "negative training effect" and you catch more over the course of the fishing year.

Thanks to the high purchase volume and in-house production of the raw materials, we can offer an extremely attractive and inexpensive feed boilie that is certainly one of the best on the market in terms of quality!

In addition, the feed boilies are ideal for combining with other boilies. For example, you can use 90% feed boilies and mix them with 10% of a Watercraft "High Range" variety.

Since we have completely dispensed with flavor here, you can easily enhance the feed mixture with a liquid according to your own preferences. We prefer to use our Big Boost Liquids.

In addition, we offer attractive bulk prices for those who need a little more: 3% discount
