With our latest bait, you can serve carp a sweet, fermented corn kernel that is just as selective as a boilie!
If you are looking for a boilie that attracts fish as much as possible and is also selective enough to target large carp, then we have just the thing for you.

Product information

Our yellow, eye-catching boilie has been specially developed to deliver tremendous catching power in waters where corn and other particles are frequently used as bait. This bait is an extremely interesting feed option, especially for competitive anglers. Thanks to its extremely fast intestinal transit time, carp simply won't be able to resist the temptation.

In the latest version of the boilie, we have made it even creamier and smoother by increasing the amount of milk protein. Before rolling the mix, we ferment it a little to intensify the aroma and taste.

The composition of the boilies includes high-quality ingredients such as the best biscuits, coarse bird food, corn flour, brewer's yeast, corn steep liquor, and N-butyric. The taste is comparable to a sweet, fermented corn cake, which makes the carp eat intensively.

Flavor: Like a piece of cake for carp that tastes like sweet fermented corn.

Area of application: Perfect for waters where corn and particles are used a lot for fishing.

Ideal for Croatian and Hungarian waters and especially as a competition boilie.
