This is a smaller version of the famous Stow Bobbins that were developed on the shores of Elstow Lake and have been used by many members of Team Korda for years. The principle of this bobbin is that it can be fished with both tight and slack line and that the line releases from the clip on the side when the hook is struck. To make this possible, the stainless steel ball chain to which the bobbin is attached must be the same length as the bite indicator. A removable connector system allows you to adjust the bobbin so that it is compatible with any bite indicator (the chain is supplied at the correct length for use with a Delkim or similar sized bite indicator).

The Stows are supplied with a stainless steel weight, but the 6g and 8g extra weights sold separately as part of the Stow range can of course also be used with the Mini Stows. The Basix Mini Stow can be fitted with a Mini Isotope (available in seven different colors). It is available in red, green and blue.
