Kickers are just a bent piece of rubber, but often the simplest things in fishing have the greatest effect, these kickers improve the hooking potential of many rigs enormously.

Product information

Benthook systems are very effective and turn extremely quickly into the fish's mouth, but they also cause a lot of damage. For many years, shrink tubes were therefore used to achieve a similar effect. With the kickers this is no longer necessary as they provide the same effect by simply sliding them over the eye of the hook without the hassle of steaming shrink tubes.

They are also perfect for use with spinner rigs. Some anglers want to camouflage their tackle as much as possible and for this the green or brown version is perfect, but on some waters a brightly colored piece of tube on the hook can increase the likelihood of the bait being found. There are also mixed kickers in red and white or yellow and pink and for anglers who use natural baits such as maggots and casters or regularly fish in mud where insect larvae are present, the latest addition to the kicker range is the Bloodworm Red version.

All kickers, regardless of color, are made from tough rubber and are available in three different sizes that can be matched to the hook being used - Small for sizes 10 and 12, Medium for sizes 6 and 8 and Large for sizes 2 and 4. When a fish is hooked, the kicker straightens but then returns to its original shape and is ready for use again. Each pack contains 10 kickers.
